The Tech Log India, Amritsar, Punjab
Blogger, July 2015 - July 2016

Worked as a Blogger in The Tech Log focusing on tech news from around the world. My focus was to help the design of the blog evolve to a more professional and attractive shape. I also performed extensive research on WordPress, Search Engine Optimisation and Content Management. I published over 100+ articles on the website covering subjects such as mobiles, gadgets and laptops. I was also involved in establishing the web services between the front-end application and the back-end host systems. Successfully provided maintenance and production support to the live system in production.

Hobbies & Interests

I have a keen interest in the technical know-how of Android Operating System and spend my time tweaking various ROMs. I also enjoy FPS games and reading.
